Cost: CSU Trustees set the tuition fees charged to all enrolled in the regular program. The campus sets additional fees. Nonresidents of California pay these costs plus higher tuition. Tuition fees differ for undergraduate and graduate students. In 2009, the CSU instituted a professional fee for state-supported MBA and similar business graduate programs. Doctoral students pay a higher tuition fee, on a par with those attending the University of California. Passage of Proposition 30 in 2012 rolled back the state university tuition fee to 2011-12 levels, retroactive to the fall 2012 semester.

Fall 2015 registration and tuition fees:
• $3,220.46 : undergraduates enrolled in 7 or more units
• $2,071.46 : undergraduates enrolled in 6 or fewer units
• $3,853.46 : graduate students enrolled in 7 or more units

• $6,043.46 : doctor of education; $7,654.46: doctor of nursing practice
• Nonresident and international students pay the tuition and fees required of California residents plus $372 per unit per semester. Such a student enrolled in 15 units in fall 2015 is charged $8,800.46 (undergraduate) or $9,433.46 (graduate) for a semester of study.
• Tuition and fees vary by program for students enrolled in fall, spring and summer extension courses and Intersession.
National Rankings: U.S. News & World Report (Sept. 2015) ranks CSUF No. 7 among “Top Public Regional Universities” in the West and No. 2 in the West in the “Least Debt” category among regional universities for percentage of those graduating with debt.

Diverse Issues in Higher Education (Oct. 2015) ranks CSUF 5th in the nation in terms of baccalaureate degrees awarded to under-represented students, based on U.S. Dept. of Education data.

Hispanic Outlook in Higher Education (May 2015) ranks CSUF No. 1 in California and fifth in the nation among top colleges and universities awarding degrees to Hispanics, based on 2013 data from the U.S. Department of Education.

Princeton Review’s Best 296 Business Schools (2015 edition) includes the Steven G. Mihaylo College of Business and Economics, the state’s largest accredited business college.

The Templeton Guide: Colleges That Encourage Character Development lists CSUF’s Student Leadership Institute among “Exemplary Programs” in the student leadership category.

Facilities: The main campus encompasses 110 permanent buildings, including student housing for 1,900 residents and the 585-seat Gastronome dining complex. Other recent additions include the Children’s Center, the Student Recreation Center, Steven G. Mihaylo Hall and the University Police and Emergency Operations Center. Other major campus structures include the Joseph Clayes III Performing Arts Center, Paulina June & George Pollak Library, Titan Student Union, which has a 1,200-seat events pavilion, small theater, food court, pub, bowling alley and conference rooms and is undergoing expansion.

The Kinesiology and Health Science Building includes the Center for Successful Aging. The Charles L. and Rachel E. Ruby Gerontology Center is home to the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute. The 10-story College Park building on Nutwood Avenue houses the College of Communications and College of Education, and provides additional classrooms and office space for staff and faculty. Three parking structures — completed in 2004, 2006 and 2010 — provide parking for about 5,500 vehicles, expanding the overall number of campus parking spaces to 11,318.

Branch Campus and Other Satellites: The CSUF Irvine Campus near the Irvine Spectrum offers mostly upper-division and graduate-level courses in a convenient location for students who live and work in southern Orange County. Other campus satellites include the Grand Central Art Center in Santa Ana and CSUF Garden Grove Center.

Fullerton Arboretum: The Fullerton Arboretum, developed with the city of Fullerton, is located at the northeast corner of campus and is open to the public. Heritage House, built in 1894 and moved to the 26-acre preserve in 1972, is a historical museum. A visitor and conference center includes a museum devoted to the agricultural history of Orange County and the contributions of Japanese-Americans.

Fullerton Marriott: A full-service hotel opened in 1989 on the southeast corner of the main campus in a project involving the Marriott Corp., the city of Fullerton and the University.

Titan Sports Complex: Revenue from the hotel venture was used to establish the Titan Sports Complex in 1992, featuring Titan Stadium (10,000 seats), Goodwin Field (3,500 seats), Anderson Field for softball, a track and full-sized soccer field.

Division I women’s sports are basketball, cross country, golf, indoor and outdoor track and field, soccer, softball (1986 national championship), tennis and volleyball.

Mascot: The choice of the elephant as the University’s mascot, dubbed Tuffy Titan, dates to 1962 when the campus hosted “The First Intercollegiate Elephant Race in Human History." The May 11 student-organized event attracted 10,000 spectators, 15 pachyderm entrants and worldwide news coverage. Associated Press rated the story among the year’s top 10, and “Day of the Titan” was born.

Cultural Events: The College of the Arts presents a wide variety of cultural attractions showcasing student and faculty talent, and guest artists. Associated Students Productions events include noon concerts in Becker Amphitheater, singers and comedians in The Pub and celebrity performers in the Portola Pavilion.

Philanthropy: The Cal State Fullerton Philanthropic Foundation oversees the management of philanthropic gifts to the university. Its Board of Governors focuses its expertise, oversight and advocacy on enhancing private support for California State University, Fullerton.

Support Groups: CSUF maintains a large network of support groups. These include: the President’s Associates, CSUF Alumni Association, Art Alliance, Colleagues of the College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Emeriti, Friends of the Fullerton Arboretum, MAMM Alliance for the Performing Arts, Music Associates, Osher Lifelong Learning Institute, Patrons of the Library, Association of the Friends and Docents of the Anthropology Museum, Reading Educators Guild, Titan Advocates and Titan Athletic Club.

Parking: University parking is self-supported by fees charged to all students, faculty and staff members. Visitor parking is available for a daily fee of $8, or $2 per hour in designated spaces. Parking is free on weekends in most parking lots and after 5 p.m. on Fridays.
